FORTIETH CONGRESS.

The Tax Bill Finally Passed—The Funding Bill in the House—Bill to Remove Political Disabilities Finally Passed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 15, 1868.

SENATE.

Mr. DRAKE called up the House bill to amend certain acts relative to the navy and marine corps.

The amendments of the Committee on Naval Affairs were agreed to. The bill passed and goes to the House.

Mr. WILSON introduced a bill to reduce the military to a peace establishment. Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. COLE offered a joint resolution in relation to the Southern Central Pacific Railroad.

Mr. HOWE introduced a bill legalizing certain locations of agricultural college scrip therein designated.

Mr. POMEROY called up the bill for the establishment of a line of steamships from New York to various ports of Europe, which was discussed.

After discussion the bill was amended by reducing the length of the proposed mail contract to ten years, when it was laid aside.

The special order, the Indian appropriation bill, being called for, the Senate insisted on its amendments to supply vacancies in the Executive departments.

Messrs. Conkling, Edmunds and Vickers were appointed a Committee of Conference.

The CHAIR submitted a communication from the President, enclosing a report from the Secretary of State, with the list of States, &c., that have ratified the fourteenth amendment. Referred to Judiciary Committee.

Mr. CHANDLER introduced a bill to extend the customs laws of the United States over Alaska, and establishing a collection district therein. Referred to Committee on Commerce.

The Indian appropriation bill then came up. A number of trifling amendments from the Committee on Appropriations and the Committee on Indian Affairs were concurred in, including five thousand dollars for presents to Indians.

Without final disposition of the bill,

Mr. SHERMAN made a lengthy report from the Committee of Conference on the disagreement between the House and Senate on the tax bill, which was agreed to.

The Senate went into executive session, and after some time adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A bill was passed for the relief of Z. M. Hall, of Chicago, refunding the tonnage tax.

A resolution was passed appointing an investigating committee to inquire into the disbursements of the Contingent Fund during 1867 and 1868.

Bills were passed giving the assent of Congress to the construction of certain wharves in Oswego harbor, and restoring Commanders Cilly and Hughes to the active list of the Navy.

The credentials of James H. Goss, member elect from the Fourth District, South Carolina, were referred to the Committee on Elections.

The appropriation bill for the District of Columbia Deaf and Dumb Institute was taken up.

A motion to reconsider the vote of yesterday rejecting the amendment allowing contracts in one or more States for the instruction of deaf and dumb, was tabled—47 to 49.

Mr. WASHBURNE'S amendment for the creation of a Commissioner of Charities was rejected.

The bill then passed. It appropriates $51,000.

Under report by Mr. DAWES, from Committee on Elections, David Heaton, member elect from the second district of North Carolina, took the oath and his seat.

Mr. WASHBURNE, from the Committee on Commerce, reported a memorial of the city of Milwaukee for reimbursement of expenses in improvement of the harbor, which has been postponed till next session and a sub-Committee, Messrs. Elliott and Sawyer, appointed to ascertain the facts.

Unanimous consent was refused for the return to the Senate of the civil appropriation bill, the House having already concurred in the report of the Conference Committee.

Mr. SCHENCK asked that the funding bill be taken from the Speaker's table and referred to the Ways and Means Committee, stating it would be reported back within two days.

Mr. RANDALL objected.

A bill passed repealing so much of the 2d Section of the Act of the 28th of February, '67, as provides it shall apply only to claims of drafted men for bounty received at the War Department prior to its passage. It extends the time for presenting such claims two years.

On motion of Mr. BOUTWELL, from the Committee on Reconstruction, Senate amendments to the House bill removing political disabilities from certain persons were concurred in—101 to 20.

At Mr. BROOMAL'S suggestion the resolution creating a Select Committee on the disbursement of the contingent fund of the House was reconsidered and the subject confided to the Committee on Accounts.

Mr. DONNELLY addressed the House upon the necessity of resources for the development of the great interior plains of the Continent.

The Missouri contested election case of Switzler against Anderson was discussed.

At twenty minutes after four, Mr. SCHENCK made a report from the Conference Committee on the tax bill, which was agreed to.

The Conference report having also been agreed to by the Senate, the bill goes to the President for approval.

In reply to inquiries as to the details of the report, Mr. SCHENCK explained that as to banks the Conference Committee had agreed to strike out all relating to banks, being entirely satisfied that no bill could pass this session containing such a provision. Storekeepers are to be paid by the United States. Special agents are limited to twenty-five in number. Mineral oil has been put on the same footing as other manufactures. All distillers and refiners of oil are to pay the same as other manufactures.

Mr. SCHOFIELD—There is no tax per gallon on petroleum?

Mr. SCHENCK—No; no tax except on sales. The removal of spirits in bond is required to take place in nine months, a compromise between the six months of the House and twelve months of the Senate. The loss of revenue on petroleum he estimated at about two millions. The special tax on distilleries remains as before. The tax on sales of wholesale liquors is to be one per cent., a compromise between the three per cent. of the House and the one-fifth of one per cent. of the Senate. By the provisions relating to inspectors some sixteen or seventeen hundred officers would be got rid of, only some one hundred inspectors being left, to inspect tobacco, snuff and cigars.

Mr. ELDRIDGE—What reduction will it make in revenue officers?

Mr. SCHENCK—Certainly more than one-half.

Mr. WASHBURNE, Ill., inquired as to the business before the Committee of Ways and Means, in reference to adjourment.

Mr. SCHENCK replied the principal business before the Committee was the Funding bill, referred to it to day, and which the Committee would report back within eight hours.

Mr. BECK suggested the printing of extra copies of tax bill for the information of the people.

Mr. SCHENCK proposed twenty thousand extra copies, to be indexed by the clerk of the Ways and Means Committee, which was referred to the Committee on Printing.

The Senate amendment to the House bill to create the office of Surveyor General of Utah was concurred in.

The bill relating to contracts payable in coin was taken from the Speaker's table and referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. CHANDLER offered a resolution to create a standing Committee on Emigration of nine members. Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Recess till 7:30.

Evening Session.—Before general debate the thermometer in the Chamber indicated ninety-one degrees at the hour of meeting, and ninety-four at recess.

Messrs. BUTLER and PIKE addressed the Committee on general politics, when the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

Mississippi Election Frauds—Adjournment of Congress—Reduction of Treasury Department Employes—Gen. Grant—Nominations—Text of the Funding Bill as it Passed the Senate—Army Reduction.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 15, 1868.

THE MISSISSIPPI ELECTION.

Fifteen Mississippi radicals, including Mr. Eggleston, defeated candidate for Governor, appeared before the Reconstruction Committee this morning, demanding the exclusion from count the votes on the Constitution of Rankin, Chickasaw, Marshall, Carrol, De Soto, Lafayette and other counties. By this means they expect to carry the Constitution and elect Radical State officers and Congressmen. The reason they allege is that terror reigned in those counties. They ask Congress to declare Mississippi reconstructed and entitled to readmission to Congress. Among the fifteen several were northern and western men.

THE FUNDING BILL.

The following is the funding bill as passed by the Senate last evening:

Be it enacted, &c., That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to issue coupons or registered bonds of the United States in such form and of such denominations as he may prescribe, redeemable in coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after twenty, thirty and forty years respectively, and bearing the following rates of yearly interest, payable semi-annually in coin, that is to say, the issue of bonds falling due in twenty years shall bear interest of five per centum, bonds falling due in thirty years shall bear interest at four per cent., which paid bonds shall be exempt from taxation in any form under any State, municipal or local authority, and the same and the interest thereon and the income therefrom shall be exempt from the payment of all taxes or duties to the United States other than such income tax as may be assessed upon other incomes, and the said bonds and the proceeds thereof shall be exclusively used for the redemption or payment at the option of the holder or purchaser of or exchange for an equal amount of the present interest bearing debt of the United States, other than the existing five per cent. certificates, and may be issued to an amount in the aggregate sufficient to cover the principal of all outstanding or existing obligations as limited herein and no more, but not to exceed $700,000,000 shall be of the issue redeemable in seventy years.

And be it further enacted, That there is hereby appropriated out of the duties derived from imported goods one hundred and thirty-five millions of dollars annually, which sum during each fiscal year shall be applied to the payment of the interest and to the reduction of the principal of the public debt, in such a manner as may be determined by the Secretary of War, or as Congress may hereafter direct, and such reduction shall be in lieu of the sinking fund contemplated by the fifth section of an act entitled "an act to authorize the issue of United States notes and for the redemption or funding thereof, and for funding the floating debt of the United States," approved February 25th, 1862.

And be it further enacted, That any contract hereafter made payable specifically in coin shall be legal and valid and may be enforced according to its terms, anything in the several acts relating to United States notes to the contrary notwithstanding; provided that this section shall not apply to contracts for the borrowing of currency, the renewal or extension of indebtedness under a contract already entered into, unless such contract originally required payment in coin.

And be it further enacted, That from and after the passage of this act, no per centage, deduction, commission or compensation of any amount or kind shall be allowed to any person for the sale or negotiation of any bonds or securities of the United States disposed of at the Treasury Department or elsewhere, on account of the United States, and all acts or parts of acts authorizing or permitting by construction or otherwise the Secretary of the Treasury to appoint any agent, other than some proper officer of his Department, to make such sale or negotiation of bonds and securities, are hereby repealed.

The Union Soldiers of Missouri in Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, July 15.—The Union Soldiers' Convention at Jefferson City to-day was very largely attended. Colonel William Grosvenor was temporary and Gen. John M'Neil permanent President. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted and with great applause:

First—That our soldiers are attached to the union of the States and the principles of the Constitution of the United States, in defence of which they perilled their lives and their all.

Second—That we hold it to be our duty in common with all good citizens to uphold, defend and enforce the laws of the United States as enacted by the representatives of the people in Congress and the Constitution and laws of this State, and that they will do so at all times, under all circumstances and against all and every organization of party or individuals who may attempt to trample them under foot.

Third—That we approve and endorse the declaration of principles laid down by the National Union Republican Convention at Chicago, and pledge to the nominees of that Convention our earnest and hearty support.

Fourth—That we have abiding confidence in the integrity, patriotism and ability of the great captain under whose leadership we achieved the victory of liberty and union over secession and slaveholding power. As we relied upon him to put down the rebellion, so we can trust him to guard the institutions for the preservation of which he led us to victory. With the helm of State in the hands of Gen. U. S. Grant, we can repose in security that the honor of the nation will be upheld at home and abroad, the laws fully executed, the interests of our disabled comrades and of the widows and orphans of our fallen brothers be affectionately guarded, and the peace, prosperity and happiness of the whole people secured.

Fifth—That the distinguished civilian and statesman, Schuyler Colfax, the soldiers' friend, who so nobly stood by the Union and its defenders in the councils of the nation throughout the great struggle, is entitled to the confidence and support of the men who fought under the starry banner on land and on sea.

Sixth—That while we shall never cease to condemn the mad spirit of rebellion which forced upon us a war unparalleled in atrocity, waged for a purpose hostile to every principle of Republican equality and christian philanthrophy, we yet entertain malice towards none of those who fought against us in fierce and open battle, and while we believe that the forfeiture of all political rights on the part of those who engaged in or aided or sympathized with rebellion, was a legitimate, just and proper consequence, we yet stand ready to give to the soldiers who met us in manly fight equal political privileges at the earliest moment consistent with State and National safety.

Seventh—That we are unequivocally in favor of the ratification, at the general election to be held in November next, of the proposed amendment to the State Constitution striking out the word "white" wherever it occurs in that instrument.

Eighth—That we hold it to be a measure of eminent justice that all officers, State, county and municipal, should be elective and not appointive, to the end that the working men shall have an equal chance with the politician and the soldier or sailor with the followers and hangers on of the camp.

Ninth—That reposing implicit faith in the wisdom and patriotism of the Republican Convention to assemble in Jefferson City to-morrow, we pledge to the nominees of that Convention our full and hearty support.

The vote of Mississippi has not yet been announced, but the Constitution is believed to be defeated by a very large vote. In Alabama, the Constitution received a majority of the votes cast, but not a majority of those registered. The Texas Convention is still in session.

Seymour on Rebel Constitutions.

A little incident in Seymour's history which is made public upon good authority, affords an example of his loyalty and patriotism. At the outbreak of the rebellion, he declared, in a public speech, that it was a question whether "successful coercion" was not as revolutionary as successful secession; and he pronounced the war for the Union an "infamous warfare." A little later, meeting Judge Charles H. Ruggles, he asked the Judge: "Judge, have you read the confederate constitution? I have; and it is better than ours. Then why not obviate all difficulty, by simply adopting that [rebel] constitution?" Seymour said that the rebel constitution was better than the National constitution. He proposed to settle the war by having the whole North join the confederacy, and adopting the rebel consitution! There is nowhere any proof that he ever changed his sentiments in this respect. There is nowhere any proof that he differs now from Frank Blair and Wade Hampton.

—The third annual Tobacco Fair of the Cincinnati and Covington Tobacco Trade Association was held with unusual attraction on Tuesday and Wednesday at Pike's Music Hall, Cincinnati, and was largely attended by representatives from every portion of the United States. The annual address was delivered by Colonel L. S. Bradford. There were twenty-four valuable premiums offered, among which the following are the highest: first, to Jno. W. Stone, Lynchburg, Va., for bright wrappers; second, for cutting leaf, to J. N. Walker, Bracken county, Ky.; third, for black wrapper, to J. E. Markham, Putnam county, West Va.; fourth, to Mrs. Ann Ware, Bracken county, Ky., for leaf tobacco. After awarding the premiums, the sale of all the tobacco on exhibition commenced and will continue from day to day until all is sold. It is being sold much lower than was anticipated,

SUMMER CAROL.

BY W. H. C. HOSMER.

Hark! hark! a sweet voice calls,
"Fly o'er dull book and pen,
For a home in the breezy forest halls,
Afar from the haunts of men,
Below a mossy carpet spread,
And a bough-inwoven roof o'erhead!

"From the dust and din of wheels
To the greenwoods leafy gloom,
Where naught a trace of man reveals,
Away from this living tomb!
And thine will be right royal fare
Along, along with Nature there."

An old, familiar tone
Is in that voice more sweet
Than chiming flutes by moonlight blown
On Ke-u-ka's azure sheet;
A music that has inspired me long,
Invites my Ariel of song.

Book-laden shelves, farewell!
I long for sweeter lore
In the flowery glade, or shadowy dell
Than I ever learned before;
To feel once more that I am free,
Blest spirit! in the woods with thee.

—Few honest people doubt that women have just as much right to their rights as men have, but such specimens as Anna Dickenson and Gail Hamilton fill these honest folk with so much disgust that have no room left for sympathy.

—A gold coin has been dug up near Omaha, which is dated 1586. On the strength of this Omaha is going to lay claims to antiquity, and her old families will probably look down upon those of Boston and Philadelphia as mere upstarts.

—Icebergs are met by almost every steamer going to or from Europe now a days. If those coming this way, knew what they have to expect, we think they would get up a picnic party on one of the bergs and wait for the next steamer.

—A man in Lowell, Washington county, Ohio, was almost frozen to death last week; he crawled into an ice house to try and keep cool, and was discovered a few hours afterwards frozen quite stiff and insensible. He was, with the greatest difficulty, restored to life, and will probably never get over the effects of his imprudence, yet still we swelteringly envy him.

Inauguration of the Luther Monument at Worms—Imposing Ceremonies.

The inauguration of the Luther monument attracted to the small town of Worms sufficient visitors to fill a large capital. As many as 90,000 people were present, who, of course, could not be lodged in the town, and had to seek shelter as well as they could in the villages of the neighborhood. Besides the Kings of Prussia and Wurtemburg, and several of the minor German Protestant Princes, about 2,000 clergymen had arrived from all parts of Germany and Switzerland, and even from France, England and America. The festivities were rather of a serious than a gay character. The great services of Luther and the reformers who preceded or followed him were extolled in sermons and speeches. An English clergyman spoke vehemently against Puseyism, and charged the Bishop of Oxford with betraying the cause of the Reformation. The most remarkable speech was that of the Mayor of the town, a Catholic, as are three-fourths of the population. When the monument was made over to the care of the municipality of Worms, he accepted it as a national gift, and praised the manly spirit shown by Luther at the Diet when he declared: "I have not been convinced; I cannot retract; here I am; I cannot change; may God assist me!" This historical fact which has changed the aspect of Europe, deserved to be commemorated by a national monument. Even those nations who have not adopted his religious tenets enjoy their blessings; for he has put down the despotism which forbade free thought, and gave back to every nation the right to bring common sense to bear on religious matters. His translation of the Bible induced people to learn to read, schools and academies came into existence, and in his own time he was considered the German Cicero. The monument itself is a great success. The statue of Luther is ten feet high; by his side are his two protectors—the Elector of Saxony and the Landgrave of Hesse. The next group shows Huss, Savanorale, Wickliffe, Waldus, Melancthon and Renchlin, and the symbolic statues of the towns in which the leading events took place. Soires where the protest was made which gave the name to Protestantism: Augsburg, where the first peaceable settlement was arrived at, and Magdeburg, the last sufferer and victim of the league. The festivities closed in the best harmony, and, though there were neither police nor military, not the least disorder occurred.—Cor. London Times.

The Peabody Fund.

Dr. Sears, the agent, has, since he was appointed, visited ten of the Southern States. The plan which he adopts is to visit the city government of the various cities, and communicate to them his mission; and if they establish the system of free schools, he offers from his fund to bear a portion of the burden for the current year, generally about two-fifths of the amount required for instruction. In seven of the States free schools have thus been established in the principal cities, and the plan has everywhere met with the earnest co-operation and sympathy of the intelligent portion of the Southern people. In only one place has Dr. Sears met with a decided rebuff, and in that place the city authorities—the majority of whom were bachelors—thought that every man ought to educate his own children. The provisions of the fund do not extend in Maryland, Kentucky, Missouri and Texas. Attention has thus far been given to the largest towns and cities, and it has generally been found that only about one-third of the white children in those places were attending schools—generally from the wealthier families—in private schools at great expense, and that in the same places about two-thirds of the colored children were in some way provided with means of education and were actually at schools.

IN THIS blazing hot weather everybody wants a cure for hydrophobia and a preventitive for sun-stroke. For the former, let us say that it has lately been discovered in India, that a cure may promptly be effected by salivating the victim. Tie the patient to a chair, give him fifteen grains of calomel at once, and at the same time administer a mercurial vapor bath. For preventing sunstroke, we should think that everybody might know by this time that a cabbage leaf or a damp handkerchief in the hat is a good thing.

RIVER NEWS.

The weather continues excessively hot, the thermometer at noon yesterday indicating 98 in the shade. We have not had so long a period of hot weather for several years, and this seems to be the case all over the country. River falling, with fourteen inches in the channel by the Monongahela marks.

—The Emma No. 3 is having a rough time of it. She is reported badly aground at Treadwater, out of the channel, and too low down.

—The Yorktown from Fort Benton, arrived at Cincinnati on Monday. Capt. Ebbert contradicts the statement that boat cleared, as has been stated, $10,000, on the mountain trip.

—A late Madison (Ind.) paper says: D. C. Robinson has invented and patented an ingenious rudder for the management of stern-wheel boats. We are unable to describe it, but competent judges say it is just the thing, and will enable the pilot to have perfect control of a boat in the severest weather. Mr. Robinson will shortly attach it to a stern-wheel boat, and make a practical test of its adaption to the purposes for which it is designed.

—The Cincinnati Enquirer, of Thursday, says: The railroads are now receipting freight through to New Orleans at lower rates than light draught boats can well afford to carry at, and a good part of what little freight there is offering for that point is going by rail. The Ohio and Mississippi road, we understand, receipt through to New Orleans, via A. and M. S. S. Co.'s boats, at 40c per cwt. on heavy freights, and $1,28 per bbl for pork.

—Judging from the following, which we take from the Crescent of last Friday, some one aronnd New Orleans is the owner of a very lively steamboat. The Crescent says: "We heard yesterday of a steamboat having been chartered to run in three different trades at the same time—that is, she is to make two trips a week to Bayon Sara, two to Natchez and one to Vicksburg. As far as our knowledge extends, we do not believe that the thing can be done, yet our informants are all reliable men, willing to vouch for their statements, so that we have only to bide our time and 'see what we shall see.'" —A dispatch dated at Omaha on Tuesday says: The stemer St. Luke arrived at Benton on the 7th. The river rose two feet in the last 48 hours. A heavy rise is reported at Sioux City. The Only Chance, for Benton, passed up yesterday evening. The Argonant, from the mountains, has arrived. She reports the bodies of seven white men found, at Fort Peck, scalped and otherwise mutilated. The indians were threatening to attack woodchoppers on the river, between Forts Benton and Buford. They were also troublesome from the mouth of the Yellowstone to Fort Benton, killing woodchoppers, burning wood, &c., and announce their intention to keep boats away from that vicinity.

—Says the St. Louis Republican, of Sunday: Business which, during the earlier part of the week was extremely dull, closed with a very lively show of activity, and freights of all descriptions were unusually plentiful. In the Missouri river there has as yet been no marked falling off, and boats continue to receive full cargoes, and in many cases have to refuse freight. This circumstance is in part owing to the immense quantities of lumber that are being shipped up this season, and from present appearances there is no evidence that there will be any material falling off.....The decline in the river is, to say the least of it, very slow at this point, and a most unusual phenomena at this season of the year. Here it is the middle of July, with an abundance of water in the channels of the Mississippi and its tributaries; this is not often the case.

—It is thought there will be hot competition again on the Upper Mississippi. The Dubuque Herald, of Sunday, says: "It is reported that competion is about to commence again between the two packet companies, owing to a violation of the terms agreed upon a few weeks ago. The Northern line has instructed its agent at St. Paul not to let a passenger ship out of his hands at any rate of passage. If the report is true, there will be a renewal of the lively times witnessed a few weeks ago.

The same paper also says: The pilots have not as yet agreed with the packet company on rates. It will be remembered that President Davidson, with a view to reducing the salaries of pilots, and thereby enabling him to compete with the Northern line, cut down the rates of pilots from $150 to $75 per month. The pilots, in consideration of the fact that the lines were racing, even agreed to this, but when they found this was intended by Mr. Davidson to be a permanent arrangement, they objected, and demanded the salary originally agreed upon. The company, true to their independent fighting proclivities, refused to accede to their request, and the result is that some of the very best pilots on the river are now not employed.

"Let us Have Peace"—Grant.
"Let us Have War"—Blair.

"Seymour and Blair will give us all the Confederacy fought for."—Ex-rebel Gov. Vance's speech at the Democratic ratification meeting in Richmond.

MR. SCHOFIELD has carried Erie county, and will consequently be renominated for Congress.

CONSERVATIVE DEMOCRATS in Maryland repudiate SEYMOUR, BLAIR and Revolution. Mr. CHASE is their representative man, and they insist upon his being a candidate. He has found politics very unsatisfactory of late, and appears reluctant to become a candidate. But he is said to be open to conviction, in case the Democratic necessity demands it.

WHEN GEN. GRANT said "Let us have peace," he expressed the sentiment which has ruled in his breast since he received LEE'S sword under the Appomatox apple-tree. What a contrast between this ardent desire, in the heart of the greatest and most successful Captain of the age, and the revolutionary incendiarism of SEYMOUR and BLAIR, carpet-knights who look to another war, not the last, for their laurels!

ONLY sixty murders per month in Texas under the administration of JOHNSON'S favorite General, BUCHANAN! The average under SHERIDAN was nine. From nine to sixty is pretty well for Mr. ANDREW JOHNSON, but inaugurate the Democratic platform and candidates, with the bayonets which WADE HAMPTON invokes to secure BLAIR'S election, and the monthly carnival of murder of Union men would swell to hundreds at once.

A GREAT MANY intelligent Democrats are of the opinion that, in selecting nominees to hold the party together, their Convention clearly took the wrong men. SEYMOUR and BLAIR are shivering the Democratic mass in all directions, and the only way to save the pieces is to unite at once upon CHASE and throw the other men overboard. A still better way for them is to hesitate no longer, but come out at once, squarely and manfully, for GRANT and Peace.

THE extraordinary heat which has prevailed for two weeks past is spoken of by the entire American press as without precedent in this generation. Over sixty fatal cases of sun-stroke are reported in a few of our Eastern exchanges as occurring on the 14th. Yesterday, the heat was still more oppressive, and the mortality which it directly caused in all sections of the country could not have been less than several hundred. Have scientific men no explanation for this unprecedented condition of the atmosphere?

THE telegraph reports that New England members of Congress are indifferent as to proposed changes in the tariff. Very likely this may be so. In many branches of industry Protection has accomplished in the New England States its intended and ultimate results, and not a few men who are pursuing those branches feel that they can stand alone. But let the present attitude of the New England members be what it will, there can be little doubt, from the nature of the case, that the Southern States, hitherto opposed to Protection, as a system, will now espouse it.

SEYMOUR has given his voice for war—at home, himself safe among the subterranean New York Democracy, whose exploits, in burning Orphan Asylums, and their unfortunate little inmates, in murdering negroes, and in stoning to death the loyal O'Brien, he temporised with and encouraged when he should have repressed them with his executive authority. SEYMOUR, whose experience of war has been on the safe side of an instigator of riots and the bloodiest civil commotions, wants more of it, while GRANT who saved the Union at such dreadful but necessary cost, implores his countrymen to maintain the peace he purchased for them.

HOW CAN a patriotic and law-abiding Northern Democrat—and there are a good many such—reflect upon the shameful surrender of the leaders of his party to that old Southern arrogance, which has cost the country one fearful rebellion and the Democratic party eight years of disaster already, without feeling his blood boil with fiery indignation. If, when the loyal and honest masses of that party shall fully understand the disgraceful compact which the New York Convention cemented between Northern Copperheads and Southern rebels, they do not abandon the Democratic sham by thousands, we shall lose all our faith in the intelligence and good citizenship of the American people. But the signs are most cheering. Everywhere, the Democratic leaders are quaking with alarm and apprehension, and the masses are significantly asking for light. They have no curiosity about the platform, for it tells its own tale of duplicity and fraud, and inspires only disgust among intelligent citizens, but what they do want to know is: Why did a Democratic Convention dare to nominate for the Vice Presidency that infamous demagogue who avowed himself the candidate of nullification and revolution? The honest Democrats, who are quietly asking this question of each other, are as numerous as the sands of the sea-shore, and the only reply that can be given will be in an equally quiet vote, next November, for GRANT, COLFAX and Peace.

THE THIRD PARTY MOVEMENT.

The nomination of SEYMOUR and BLAIR by the Democratic National Convention is evidently distasteful to many Democrats in all parts of the country. Nor are President JOHNSON and Chief Justice CHASE pleased with that result, whatever professions either or both of them may make to the contrary.

In this position of affairs it is not wonderful that various and conflicting reports are put afloat as to the probabilities of a third National Convention to put in nomination other candidates than those now before the people for President and Vice President. Where there are disappointments, there will be grumbling, at least, if not threats of reprisals and revenge. But this condition of quasi mutiny in party ranks is not apt to last long. The disaffected either smother their griefs or change sides.

The fact is the course of events in this country, as in all other countries where Government rests on a popular basis, has been unfavorable to third parties. Legitimate space does not exist for them. Commencing in 1830, the Abolitionists sustained a sort of independent organization for a number of years. As a protest on the part of a small class of honest and intelligent men against the selfish and base subserviency of the two great parties to the institution of slavery and the oligarchy by which it was supported, this movement answered a valuable end. But as an instrumentality for obtaining the direction of public affairs, the whole thing was a miserable failure, and could not have been otherwise from the very nature of the case.

In 1848 Mr. MARTIN VAN BUREN and his especial friends in the Northern States held a deep grudge against Gen. CASS, and resolved to indulge it by running a third Presidential candidate in order to secure his defeat. Mr. VAN BUREN himself consented to be the standard-bearer in this revolt. Having a definate end to gain he and his friends adopted the only rallying cry that promised to be availed. Hence, they declared plumply for the "Free Soil, Free Speech and Free Men." That Mr. VAN BUREN and his more prominent associates cared nothing for the vital matters involved in this honorable legend, is inferable from his whole previous course. No man was ever a more docile and humble servitor of the Slave power than he had been all through his public career. What he wanted was not to make condonement for his political sins, nor to vindicate unpopular and contemned principles, believed to be essential to the regeneration of the republic, but to prostrate and baffle an enemy. How much or little he contributed to the election of General TAYLOR can be easily deduced from the election returns of that year. A careful scrutiny thereof will be apt to satisfy any man that General CASS was predestined to defeat, no matter what Mr. VAN BUREN and his meagre cohorts did or could have done.

Nor does the room formerly existing for a third party seem to have been enlarged since the date of these historic instances. How could it be? True, the Democratic party has had, even according to its own confession in the introduction to its new platform, all the ground whereon it stood, taken out from under it, leaving it suspended and dangling in the air, and as utterly helpless as ABSOLOM was when his horse went from beneath him on a tragic occasion. But the animus of that party survives the final defeat of the measures with which it was identified. Chastisement has not wrought upon it the peaceable fruits of political righteousness, but rather served to inflame its envies, jealousies, hatreds and all uncharitablenesses. It is as instinct as ever with the propensity to mischief. If it cannot remand the emancipated slaves back into boudage, it means to make their condition as intolerable as it can. If it cannot restore to the Southern patriarchs the human chattels over which they dominated, and by means of which they ruled the nation, they at least intend, if possible, to remit to their keeping the political destiny of the States which engaged in the revolt. If they cannot order reconstruction to suit themselves, they hope to stir up a fresh rebellion, trusting to the chapter of accidents to come out of another war better than out of the last one.

Among the multiplied reports to which we have alluded, are two in relation to Mr. CHASE; one to the effect that he has given in his adhesion to SEYMOUR and BLAIR; the other, that he and his followers are bent on a third National Convention, to be held at Cincinnati, and by which he shall be named for the Presidency, in connection with Mr. EWING, of Kansas, for the Vice Presidency.

Now, we do not know that it is material what Mr. CHASE does, or omits to do, provided only he will resign the high office he disgraces by prejudging, to promote his political advancement, great constitutional questions which may soon come before him for adjudication. Ambition has fatally betrayed him, as it did Mr. WEBSTER in 1852, when he made his disgraceful 7th of March speech under promises from the Southern Whigs of the nomination to the Presidency, and got not even a half vote from them in the one hundred and thirty odd ballots that were taken in July following by the Baltimore Convention. Mr. WEBSTER, broken-hearted, mortified, ashamed, went to Marshfield, and laid down with his face to the wall and died. As for Mr. CHASE he is dead already, though he seems to know it not. There is no political life left in him; and, what is worse, he has daubed and blackened a noble record of services, extending through many years, and which, had he remained true to it, would have proved a priceless legacy to his children and the whole nation.

Let the malcontents do what they will. The Republicans, satisfied with both their candidates and platform, mean unitedly to keep charging on the line of their opponents, and put them to hopeless rout.

GROWTH OF PITTSBURGH.

During the years 1866 and 1867 not less than nine thousand houses were erected in this city and the adjacent municipalities. Most of these buildings are of stone or brick. Not a few of them of the more elegant and costly descriptions. It was apprehended, at the opening of the current year, that the erections had outrun the demand occasioned by increased business and population, and that there would be a falling off in new undertakings. This view was strengthened by the continuance of high prices both for material and labor.

In the forepart of last March an unusual number of stores, shops and tenements were placarded, "To Let," and this circumstance strengthened the impression that comparatively little would be done in the way of building. The event, however, has proved that houses are not in excess of the demand. Most of the April changes among tenants resulted either from individuals moving into new places of their own, or from the possibility of procuring better accommodations than had been used previously. Very few houses remain unoccupied, and those of the poorer classes; which of itself is a good symptom, as showing that families have been able to better their condition.

As the season advanced building was renewed, and as many new structures are now going up as at any former period. The improvements are very equally distributed throughout both cities and the boroughs.

Comparatively few strangers who visit Pittsburgh are aware of the fact that its suburban residences are unsurpassed on this continent for size and elegance. The number of these establishments is larger than near any other town of anything like corresponding size; and for the plain reason that the town is so dirty as to be uncomfortable as a place of residence.

This summer an unusual number of suburban mansions, of the best sorts, have been commenced. The configuration of the territory contiguous to the city adds to the charm of architecture, for a more picturesque region does not exist. Nature has here done prodigally what art and wealth would in vain essay in many other spots. Varied undulations afford the choicest opportunities for architectural effect, and heighten immeasurably the material poetry of landscape gardening.

The extension of the limits of the city has had the effect to stimulate the progress of improvements in the annexed districts. A certainty is felt that gas and water will soon be introduced, and the highways put under appropriate supervision.

On the whole, we shall not be surprised if the official returns show at the end of the year that the number of buildings put up in 1868 fully equalled the erections of any preceding twelve months.

THE CURRANT WORM.

This pest has at last made its appearance in gardens in the vicinity of this city, and begun it mischievous work of denuding the current and gooseberry bushes of their leaves. A good many "infallible remedies" have been brought forward, but we doubt if any one has been found of much practical utility. This cormorant has an appetite that is sharpened by all manner of additions made to its food, and is disturbed in its general habits by none.

It was imported from France about ten years ago, on an invoice of gooseberry bushes, by Barry & Ellwanger, of Rochester, N. Y., and has been gradually extending its ranges from that point in all directions. Its ravages in each particular locality last three years, and when it commences operations in a neighborhood no garden will long escape. Most of the bushes will pretty surely be destroyed.

Those proprietors who superabound in faith and patience may experiment with one or all the remedies presented, but if their stock of faith and patience shall not exhaust, they will be apt to conclude before three years that the expenditure thereof in that way does not pay.

THE Republican and neutral press are very generally agreed that the Copperhead and rebel wing of the Democracy secured General BLAIR'S nomination, expressly with a view, in case of an election of the ticket, to the contingency of a failure in SEYMOUR'S health, physical or mental, in which event the advocate of a new civil war would succeed to the Presidency, and would forthwith inaugurate his programme of tumult. The silence of the Democratic press on this point confirms the impression that such is the intention of their leaders. The people, who demand and will have peace, will, however, put a quietus in November upon this Democratic scheme of revolution, itself more insane than their candidates can ever be.

SOUTHERN REBELS, unreconstructed, arrogant and vindictive as ever, know exactly where to find friends for that "lost cause" which the Confederacy fought for unavailingly, but which, Governor VANCE said at Richmond, SEYMOUR and BLAIR would restore to them. The rebel General HAMPTON, of South Carolina, in a speech on the 9th inst., in front of the St. Augustine Hotel in New York, spoke of these friends as follows:

"It has been the earnest desire of the South since the war closed to join with the Democratic party; and I want you all to know that if we had been willing to go with the Radical party we could have made any terms that we chose. But we determined to take defeat with the Democracy, rather than by sacrificing our principles to gain success with the Radicals."

GOV. MORTON'S SPEECH.

The Senator from Indiana, on Thursday last, in striking the key-note of this political canvass, exhibited the same masterly faculty of seizing and making prominent, the vital, underlying current of politics, which has, in previous years, made his speeches most valuable as campaign documents for the Republicans.

The Edmunds bill, for the exclusion of unreconstructed States from the Electoral College, being under consideration, the Senator from Indiana said:

I desire, however, to say one word in regard to the importance of this measure. We have been noting the proceedings of a Convention held in the city of New York, which has but just adjourned. I have read the resolutions adopted by that Convention, the platform of principles it has laid down, and upon which its candidates have been placed; and I wish to call the attention of the Senate to the issue that is presented to the country by this platform and by the character of these candidates.

General Grant, in his letter of acceptance, said, "Let us have peace;" but the Democratic party by their Convention in New York have said, "Let us have war; there shall be no peace." They have declared in substance, I might say, perhaps, in direct terms, that the reconstruction of these States under the several acts of Congress shall not be permitted to stand, but shall be overturned by military force if they get the power. They have announced that there shall be no peace in this country; that there shall be no settlement of our troubles except upon the condition of the triumph of those who have been in rebellion. This platform and these nominations are a declaration of the renewal of the rebellion. Let me call your attention to a part of the eighth resolution in regard to this very question. In speaking of the reconstruction of the States, they go on to say that the power to regulate suffrage exists with "each State," making no difference between loyal States that have been at peace and States that have been in rebellion, putting them all upon the same footing:

And that any attempt by Congress on any pretext whatever—

That is upon the "pretext" of the rebellion if you please—

"to deprive any State of this right, or interfere with its exercise, is a flagrant usurpation of power which can find no warrant in the Constitution; and if sanctioned by the people, will subvert our form of Government."

They declare that the interference of Congress with suffrage in States that have been in rebellion, though that interference may be absolutely necessary, as we have found it, to the reconstruction of the States, is unconstitutional, that no justification can be found for it, and that it will subvert our form of government.

MR. HOWARD. Read the rest of it.

MR. MORTON. Yes sir, I will read the balance of it:

"And can only end in a single centralized and consolidated government, in which the separate existence of the States will be entirely absorbed, and an unqualified despotism be established in place of a Federal Union of coequal States, and that we regard the reconstruction acts (so called) of Congress, as such are usurpations and unconstitutional, revolutionary, and void."

This Convention has called upon the rebels of the South to regard these governments organized by authority of acts of Congress by the people of those States as usurpations, unconstitutional and void, and has thereby invited them again to insurrection and rebellion. That is what that resolution means. There is where the Democratic party has placed itself and its candidates, that there shall be no acquiesence in the action of Congress, but that continued resistance is and shall be their policy. They have replied to General Grant by saying, "There shall be no peace, but the war shall be renewed." There can be no other policy for that party unless it acquiesce. If it does not accept these reconstruction acts there can be no policy but that of resistance and a renewal of the war. They declare these reconstruction acts to be unconstitutional and void. Being void, nobody is bound to regard them; they have no authority over any one to coerce or to punish, and may be resisted by any one with impunity. That is not the language of this resolution, but it is the substance and the meaning of it; and in consequence of this it received the endorsement and the approbation of the hundreds of rebels who were in that Convention from the South, men who organized the rebel government and organized and led the rebel armies in battle. This, then, is the issue, a continuance of the war; a renewal of the rebellion; because it is either that, or it is submission or acquiescence to what has been done.

But, Mr. President, we are not left to grope for the meaning of this Convention; we are not left even to seek for it by inference. We have a letter of General Francis P. Blair, written, I believe, less than one week ago, and this letter has been endorsed by that Convention this afternoon by his nomination as their candidate for the Vice Presidency. At least I am informed that he has been nominated.

Mr. POMEROY. Let us have the letter read. I want to hear it.

Mr. MORTON. It is as much a part of this platform as if it was incorporated in it, for the ink was hardly dry before it was indorsed by his nomination. I ask the Secretary to read the letter.

[The letter of Mr. Blair, which we have twice printed very recently, was then read, and Governor M. proceeded:]

Mr. President, that is the Democratic platform. General Blair, whatever you may say of him, is a bold, outspoken man, and he spoke the sentiment of that Convention. He says, "Upon these sentiments I want to stand before the Convention;" and upon those sentiments he was nominated. Therefore, I say that the language of the Democratic Convention at New York to the whole country is war, resistance by force of arms to Congressional legislation; the overthrow by force of arms of the governments that have been erected in the rebel States under the laws enacted by Congress; the continuance of this rebellion; continuance of this struggle in a somewhat different form, but still the same struggle, contending for the same principles. It is now announced formally, not at Montgomery, nor at Richmond, but at New York. The country need not be at any loss to understand the character of the contest upon which we are entering. It is not one of peace and acquiescence, of consolidation whereby the ravages of war may be repaired; but it is a new declaration of war; a new announcement of the rebellion under somewhat different circumstances, but under circumstances formidable, dangerous, and solemn. Let the country look the struggle in the face.

Gen. Blair has said truly that all that is said about greenbacks and bonds and questions of finance is mere nonsense. The great issue is the question of overturning the new State governments by force, the restoration of the power of the rebels, or as they call it, the white men's government of those States; and all the rest is leather and prunella. We owe a debt of gratitude to Gen. Blair for his frankness. There need be no deception practiced now, and there can be none. There can be no other issue presented substantially to us but that of the future peace of this country. If Seymour shall be elected upon that platform he stands pledged to use the army of the United States for the purpose of overturning the governments that have been established in the South by the voice of the whole people, and by that army to place the power back again into the hands of the rebels. They were there with him in that Convention. They have given to him their counsel. They have indorsed Mr. Seymour, and the Convention and all have indorsed General Francis P. Blair.

I know that we shall be told in the Northwest that they intend to have the same currency for the Government and the people, for the bondholder and the laborer. They will proclaim taxation of the bonds as the great issue upon which they expect to get votes, but that will be a deception. The great issue underlying the whole contest—and we have the solemn declaration of their candidate for Vice President to that effect—will be the renewal of the war to overturn the State governments that have just been established under the acts of Congress. Gen. Blair has relieved the Republican party of a great deal of labor. He has unmasked the enemy with whom we have to deal, and he has placed before the country the very issue, peace or war.

WADE HAMPTON, having effected the nomination of BLAIR, the advocate of another war for Southern rights, proceeded, the same evening, to expound the Democratic platform, to a meeting in Union Square. The extract which we quote, shows the Democratic-Rebel determination to resist the enforcement of those laws which give the suffrage to Southern blacks. Said HAMPTON:

"We can have no relief unless this great Democratic party will come out and pledge itself that we shall have a fair election—that the white people of the South shall vote; and I want you all to register an oath that when they do vote, that these votes shall be counted, and if there is a majority of white votes, that you will place Seymour and Blair in the White House, in spite of all the bayonets that shall be brought against them."

WHATEVER may result from SEYMOUR'S alleged tendency to insanity, the peace-loving people of this Republic propose to put BLAIR in such a close straight-jacket next November, that his crazy ravings shall do no harm, except to himself and to the Democratic party which has indorsed his bloody programme of civil war.

THE Cincinnati Enquirer says the Democratic platform means unlimited greenbacks. The New York World says it means no more greenbacks. The Enquirer says it favors ploughholders. The World says it favors the bondholders. The Enquirer says it means paying the bonds at once. The World says it means paying them at some very distant day. The Enquirer says it means paying them in the depreciated currency with which they were purchased. The World says it means paying them with gold, or greenbacks at a gold standard. The Enquirer says it means paying them by setting the Treasury printing presses at work. The World says it means paying them by taxing the people.

THE New York Times says: "Unquestionably, there is a very grave danger, in case of the possibility of the election of Mr. Seymour, that the Vice President (Blair) would be called on to serve in the first office for the greater part of the term. Who that knows Blair's nature, or has read his revolutionary letter, but would be alarmed for the country in such a contingency? We have already had a number of terrible warnings not to elect any man Vice President whom we are not willing to see in the President's chair. In view of all the facts in the case, we don't know in which of its parts the Democratic ticket is the worst."

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.

STRENGTHEN THE DEFENCES.

Malaria, the most deadly enemy of health, is everywhere active in July and August. The blazing sun is decomposing and fermenting every species of vegetable and animal abomination, and poisonous gases that depress and infect the system are universally present. On the prairies, in the swamps, in the woods, and in the midst of crowded cities, this development of the elements of disease is now going on. In short the human body is in a state of siege, and reason and common sense suggest that its DEFENCES BE STRENGTHENED. A stimulant, a tonic, a corrective, and an alterative are required to put it in perfect trim, and these four grand requisites are combined in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. A man must be made of steel not to be affected by the morbid matter set afloat in the atmosphere by the rays of an almost vertical sun. Nine-tenths of the community are premonished at this season by debility, indisposition for exertion, nervousness, &c., that they need something to build them up and regulate their animal machinery. Do they want to "fight it out on that line all summer," or to achieve an immediate victory over their unpleasant symptoms, and secure that first of Heaven's blessings—"a sound mind in a sound body?" If the latter is their desire let them resort to the BITTERS without delay. That agreeable and potent vegetable regenerative will soon restore the system to its balance—regulating the liver, strengthening the stomach, gently relieving the bowels, and giving vigor, elasticity and energy to the whole frame. These are proven facts. No man who reads the testimony on which they are founded can for a moment doubt them.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases, which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which I had been advised to "let alone," on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten it on my lungs. I knew that the peculiar mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some [illegible] al organ, on account of the suddenness of [illegible] and the immediate check to the discharge, [illegible] believed was a salutary provision of nature [illegible] id of some morbid condition of the system. [illegible] erfectly satisfied that your method of treat- [illegible] urifying the system, and local applications [illegible] sitious part, must cure, if anything could, [illegible] cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy [illegible] rt myself well in every particular, with [illegible] r and better health than I have had for years. [illegible] d also add that the applications you made [illegible] most painless, and have left me a new man, [illegible] l the energies and vigor of restored health.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, July 15, 1868.

Gold advanced to-day from 141⅜ to 142⅜, market strong; quotations for bonds have again declined in England, yesterday one per cent, and to-day ¾ per cent. This of course will necessiate to increased shipments of coin, and probably we may see bonds come back unless they should decline at some points.

The bond market is weak in sympathy with the rise of gold, still there is more demand in small amounts for investment.

The stock market is dull and lower, with little doing. Ohio & Mississippi Certificate jumped from 29¼ to 33⅛, if quotations are correct. The balance of the list points towards lower rates.

Mining and Express shares are lower and dull.

Money in good demand—business dull.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Gold, 142¾; 1881 bonds, 113¾; 5-20s, 1862, 113⅛; 1864 do, 110; 1865 do, 111⅜; new, 1865 and 1867, 108⅝; Ten Forties, 107¼; Seven Thirties, 108¼.

New York Central, 131½; Erie, 67¼; Michigan Southern, 91¼; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 84¼; Northwestern, common, 78¾; Preferred, 80¾; Chicago & Rock Island, 107½; Pittsburgh & Fort Wayne, 167¾; Ohio & Mississippi Certificates, 33½; Merchants Union Express, 24½; Western Union Telegraph, 34¼; Corydon, 30; Quicksilver, 21; Quartz Hill, 1.15.

—A prominent banking firm of New York city with extensive western connections, recently sent circulars to prominent parties throughout the entire west, asking information in regard to the crops, and have received in reply complete details from the principal counties of the States of Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois.

In the whole west and northwest the prospect for abundant crops was never excelled, and there is a large increase in the number of acres planted in the northwest over last year.

The crops are likely to be harvested in good condition, and in the aggregate will be the largest ever gathered. The wheat crop is spoken as promising remarkably well, while corn never looked better. The corn crop is of the most general interest to the country, and one in which our railroads are more dependent than any other for a good business.

It is important for our railroad men to know this fact, that their prospects for a fine fall and winter business cannot be questioned. In the South and Southwest, we are glad to learn that the prospects are also brilliant—which will greatly assist in the recuperation of the Southern country.

After a general survey of the field we think it safe to predict the largest crops ever raised in this country.

—Closing quotations received by James T. Brady & Co.:

Gold, 142¾; U. S. 6's, 1881's, 113¾; 5-20's, 1862, 113⅛; 5-20's, 1864, 110; 5-20's, 1865, 111⅜; 10-40's, 107¼; 5-20's, January and July, '65, 108⅝; 5-20's, January and July, '67 108⅜; June 7-30's, 108⅛; July 7-30's, 108⅛; May Comp., 1865, 119.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, July, 15, 1868.

The general markets continue exceedingly dull, with but little prospect at present of any immediate improvement. The demand for all of the leading articles is restricted enlirely to supplying the immediate wants of the trade, while, so far as values are concerned, there are no changes worthy of special notice.

GROCERIES—Some of our Grocery houses report a largely increased demand for Sugars, without, however, any change in prices; in view of the large crop of small fruits throughout the country, dealers expect a large trade in sweets during the summer and fall, and while a firmer market is possible, an advance is not probable, as the yield of Sugar will also be much larger than for several years past. In other articles there are no changes worthy of notice. We give the following quotations:

SUGARS—Cuba, 12¼c for good grocery 12¾ to 13c for prime; and 14c for choice; Porto Rico—good, 13c; prime, 13½; choice, 14½ to 15c; Clarified Cuba, 14 to 14½c. Refined—Standard Hard, 17½c; A, 16½c; B, 16¼c; Extra C, 15¾c; Sugar House, 11½c.

COFFEE—Rio ranges all the way from 21 to 26c for common to strictly prime. Java 37 to 38c.

SYRUPS—Lovering's $1; Silver Drips, $1; White Drips, $1,10; medium brands, 70 to 80c; common, 50 to 60c; Booth & Edgar Syrup, 90c.

RICE—Rangoon, good, 10c; prime to choice, 11 to 11½c; Carolina, 12 to 12½c.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, 90 to $1; Cuba, 65 to 70c; Porto Rico, 70 to 85c.

SPICES—Cassia, 80 to 85c; Cloves, 50c; Pepper, 38c; Allspice, 35c; Nutmegs, $1,50.

STARCH—Madison, 8c; Silver Gloss, 12½c, and Corn Starch, 13½c.

FRUITS—Layer Rasins, $4,75 per box; Valentia, 20c per lb; Prunes, 17c; Currants, 14c for new.

BAR LEAD—12c; Shot, $8,50 per bag.

SOAPS—"Babbitt's," 12c; "Oakley's," 11½c; Rosin, 5 to 7c; "Dobbin's," 15c.

CANDLES—Mould, 16c; Star, 23c.

CONCENTRATED LYE—$7,50 per case.

BI CARB SODA—$8,50 per 100.

FISH—White Fish, $9,00; Lake Herring, $5,00; Mackerel No. 1, $22; No. 2 $18,00; No. 3, $13,50; in half barrels, 50c more.

TOBACCO—Black 5s, 10s, ¼s and Louisville Navy, 72 to 75c; Wm. H. Grant's 10s and Navy, 80c; C. & D. Tobacco, 22c to 25c for best.

TEA—The market is firm and prices are higher for new crop. Choice Young Hyson, $1,75; fair, $1,50; common to good, $1 to $1,35; Oolong, 75c, 85c, 90c, $1, $1,25 and $1,35; good Porto Rico, $1 to $1,85, as to quality. Imperial, $1 to $1,85. Japan—Choice, $1,30; fair $1.

GRAIN—There is a fair demand for new Wheat at former quotations; sales of 235 sacks new Tennessee Red at $2,25; 123 do do at $2,25, and 222 sacks new Tennessee White at $2,30. But little old Wheat offering, and but little in market. Oats appear to be firmer, though the demand is only moderate; we can report sales on track at 78, 79 and 80c. Corn is dull, notwithstanding the supply is light and receipts limited; we continue to quote at $1,03 to $1,05. Rye is unsettled and dull, most of the distillers having stopped for the present; in the absence of sales, quotations may be fairly given at $1,50 to $1,55.

BUTTER—Is dull and unchanged; small sales of fresh packed at 23 to 25c.

EGGS—Under the influence of continued light arrivals and an increased demand, the market is firmer, and prices are higher, ranging from 22 to 23c.

CHEESE—Is still quoted at 13 to 14c for Western Reserve and Hamburg; 15 to 16c for Ohio Factory; 18c for Limburg, and 18 to 20c for Sweitzer.

HAY—The market is firmer and prices well maintained; we continue to quote at $18 to $23 for new, and $25 to $28 for old.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is steady, with regular jobbing sales at 13¾ to 13¾c for Shoulders; 16c to 16¼ for Ribbed, and 18 to 18¼ for Clear Sides, and 20¾ to 21c for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 18¼ to 18½c. Dried Beef, 21 to 22c. Mess Pork, $28,50 to $29.

POTATOES—In fair demand, with regular sales of new crop reported at $1,50 to $1,75 per bushel, and $5,50 to $6 per bbl, according to size.

LARD OIL—Is firmer, though there is no improvement in the demand; $1,20 for No. 2, and $1,40 for No. 1.

FLOUR—Is dull, and under the influence of increased arrivals, prices are weak and drooping; new Tennessee Flour is offered at $11,50, without finding buyers. Spring Wheat is unchanged at $9,50 to $10,50 for fair to good; $10,25 to $10,75 for prime to choice do; $11 to $11,50 for Winter Wheat, and $12 to $13 for fancy brands. Rye Flour, $8,75 to $9.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, July 15, 1868.

CRUDE—The market was considerably firmer to-day and somewhat excited, and prices have advanced. Yesterday, there were sales of spot oil at 12½c, while to-day, sellers were holding at 13½ to 14c, and, so far as we could learn, there was but little offering. Sale of 1,000 bbls—early this morning—for September at 13c, and 1,000 for October at 14c, and late in the day the same figure was offered for August alone. This advance is just about as sudden and unexpected as was the recent decline; then it will be remembered the market broke with Antwerp advancing, while now it is has taken an upward turn with—according to our latest advices—Antwerp declining.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was also much stronger to-day and considerably excited, and compared with yesterday, an important advance has been established. The sales were: 1,500 bbls for July at 33c; 1,000 do do at 33½c; 2,000 August at 34c; 500 each August to December at 34c; 500 last half September at 34½c; 500 October, last half, at 34½c; 500 August, last half, at 34c—total sales reported, seven thousand barrels. This movement was so sudden and entirely unlooked for that nearly every one engaged in the trade was taken by surprise, coming, as it did, right on the heels of a heavy decline. On Monday and Tuesday sales of Crude were made at 12½c, while this afternoon, it was hard to find sellers at 14c.

PITTSBURGH WOOL MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, July 15, 1868.

Prices remain about the sameas last week. In some districts the Wool is mostly out of first hands, and pretty largely shipped to the eastern markets. In other districts not much has been done, and the farmers being busily engaged with harvesting, it is not likely that much will be sold until after harvest. With a few exceptions, 40c is the highest price paid for fine Wool. We quote:

Common	35c
Medium	37@38c
Fine	38@40c
Tub-washed	38@40c

Chicago Market.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

CHICAGO, July 15.—Flour is in limited request, sales of spring extras at $7,50a10,25. Wheat is dull and there were small sales No. 1 at $1,92a1,92¼; No. 2 is ½c lower, early sales at $1,87¼a1,89; closing with sellers at $1,76, since change sales of No. 2 at 75a75½c. Americans Abroad.

American nature is essentially active and ocomotive, and St. Aldegonde's device—repos ailleurs—might be the motto of the nation. The untiring energy which, regarding toil as a pleasure, has made Americans what they are, seems equally to make their pleasure a toil. If they stayed quietly at home and stuck steadily to business they would probably lead happier lives, as they would die richer men. But fashion, curiosity, and restlessness send them abroad. They make the pursuit of the dollar the great aim of their lives, but, like all good sportsmen, it is the chase, more than its object, that fascinates them. And if they like making money, they think that spending it is the pleasantest thing. An American must start for Europe with an oppressive consciousness of the shortness of life.

Who has not met the similar type of traveling American, as he hurries along, as if pursued by burning furies—the tall, lank figure, either with very high, buttoning waistcoat or very ample shirt front, the frock coat floating away from the arm-pits; the long hair and whiskers, blown backwards, the lofty hat rubbed up against the pile. The wearer looks as if still ruffled by Atlantic gales; as if ever since he came ashore he had been in too rapid motion to spare time for the toilet. Americans abroad are a peculiar people, who carry the unmistakable stamp of their nationality on their features, costumes and manners. You may know them at a glance, as easily as a Jew or Gipsey. And disguise themselves as they may, they have but to open their mouths to be betrayed by their speech.

Male tourists, having but little time to waste in sacrificing to the graces, generally carry valises so light as hardly to be classed as impedimenta. When accompanied by their families things are very different. One cannot easily forget those huge black leather packing-cases, numbered and made to a pattern, which when raised by the combined strength of the railway staff, fall with a crash on the roof of the hotel omnibus that waits with its grumbling load. You read on their tops, in fair white characters, the names, the streets, the cities, and the native States of your fellow-travellers. At least they may give you a clue to the political proclivities of the owners, and save you the risk of outraging delicate sensibilities in the course of conversation. They contain the gorgeous toilets with which, at tables d'hote, the ladies of the party dazzle English and Teutonic guests, and outshine even French ones. With American birds of passage one remarks as an ornithological phenomenon that while the male is severely sober in his attire, the female is georgeous in her jeweled and golden plumage. She generally carries it off wonderfully well, although a sensitive taste might have suggested a more suitable apparel. Looking at the men, we may fancy that the Anglo-Saxon race deteriorates in the New World, but there can be no question that America is prolific of pretty women. Looking at the graceful figures, piquant features and transparent complexions of the younger ladies, we can understand, if we cannot excuse, Hawthorne's severe strictures on English beauty. But indolent habits and incommensurate appetites are a trying ordeal, and we soothe our startled patriotism by remarking the faded roses around whom those fair buds are clustered. Perhaps what most disenchants the admiring Englishman is the shrill notes that issue from those delicately chiselled lips, and the mannerisms, more or less marked, that diversify the brilliant flow of their talk.

In the first, whether patriotically vaunting some American institution, or simply asking to be helped a second time to some tempting dish, you always detect something of the shrill scream of the American eagle.—Saturday Review.

A HORRIBLE INCIDENT recently occurred in the city of Trebizond, Turkey. In the space of a few minutes seventeen victims fell under the knife of a madman, each victim receiving but a single wound, which in all cases was aimed at the heart. The assassin commenced his butcheries at eight o'clock in the morning, armed with a knife sharpened on two edges, the blade of which was about six or seven inches in length. Having fastened the knife to his hand with a cord, keeping the blade beneath his arm, he commenced walking slowly up the street, seizing his opportunity to stab every one whom he found within his reach, and quietly concealing his weapon after each murderous blow, left his surprised victims totally unconscious of the hand that dealt their death wound, and unable to denounce the assassin. An end was finally put to the bloody work by a baker, who succeeded in felling the assassin to the earth with a well aimed blow from a heavy stick of wood, when he was immediately seized, disarmed and handed over to the authorities. The excitement and horror created among the entire population of Trebizond was so great that the Governor was obliged to hasten the execution, and after a summary trial the culprit was taken into the public square and beheaded in the presence of the entire population of the city.

JUAN FERNANDEZ, 360 miles off the coast of Chili, and once the residence of Alexander Selkirk, whose account of his own shipwreck and life at that spot, furnished the idea of Defoe's novel, "Robinson Crusoe," has recently been visited by the United States steamer Dakotah. Juan Fernandez, after its discovery, was principally the resort of buccaneers. Chili, in 1819, attempted to make a penal settlement of this island, but finding the cost too great abandoned the enterprise in 1835. A few years ago, six men and four women went over from Valparaiso, to re-colonize the island. Nineteen souls now constitute the entire population, and these eke out a miserable existence by fishing and hunting, having no bread of any kind and but few vegetables. The island is mountainous, is covered with timber, and produces few varieties of fruit, but the waters abound in fish of almost every kind.

BRIDGE BUILDING was one of the arts brought to the greatest state of perfection during the rebellion. General McCallum states that the Rappahannock river bridge, 625 feet long and 35 feet high, was re-built in nineteen working hours; Potomac creek bridge, 414 feet long and 82 feet high, in forty working hours; Chattahooche bridge, 780 feet long and 92 feet high, in four and a half days; that between Tunnel Hill and Resaca, 25 miles of permanent way and 230 feet of bridges were constructed in seven and a half days, and near Big Shanty, 35 miles of permanent way and 455 feet of bridges in thirteen days.

AMERICAN AND ENGLISH NEWSPAPERS.—The American newspapers, it is stated, have paid during the last year more than $70,000 for messages over the cable, while the English journals during the same period, have expended only $7,000 for the news by the Atlantic wire from this country. An examination of the columns of both classes of newspapers explains the cause of this difference in the payments. The English journals give only the briefest mention of higher important intelligence, while the American papers publish long despatches on everything that may interest their readers.

LETTER FROM ERIE.

[Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ERIE, July 13, 1868.

DEAR GAZETTE:—A swarm of Pittsburghers has settled down upon Erie and taken the Reed House by storm. The citizens, with true Northern hospitality, received them with open arms and treated right royally not only the renowned Judge, the brave General and Marshal, and the Grand Jury, but also the many members of the traverse jury. None of all these, I am sure, will ever forget the delightful excursion on the lake on the steam yacht, or the numerous happy parties on the bay in the sailing yachts, and many members of the traverse will need much time to efface the memories of the charming young hostess who made them so welcome to the meeting of the "Dune Society."

After weary years of waiting, Erie is beginning to be appreciated, and is now a very wide awake, thriving city. Adequate appropriations have at length been made for the improvement of the harbor, which is now going on steadily, and in a short time we shall have the best, as we already have by far the most beautiful harbor on the lakes. The completion of the Erie and Pittsburgh Railroad has done much towards waking up Erie from its long lethargy, and now there is more business done at the Pittsburgh dock than at all of the others in the harbor put together; life is the order of the day, and the city fathers share in the general feeling, for the pipes for the new water works are being laid in the streets. The city has been within the last eighteen months admirably sewered, and many of the beautiful streets have been or are immediately to be paved with Nicolson. Some beautiful new blocks of buildings have been put up on State street, which is fast assuming a metropolitan air, and on Sixth and Ninth streets elegant dwellings are the rule almost without an exception. Private enterprise has erected an extensive grain elevator close to the bay, and a number of water lots have been purchased by some energetic men who purpose building blast furnaces, a rolling mill and a nail factory, receiving the ore direct, without change of bulk, from Lake Superior, and the coal in the same manner from Mercer and Lawrence counties by way of the Erie and Pittsburgh road.

The idea of the widening of the Beaver and Erie canal into a ship canal, by which Pittsburgh and Erie should be connected, is favorably and hopefully received here, and it would be hard to convince these people, who have fought so successfully against all opposition to their harbor improvements, that perseverence and patience will not prevail in this instance also.

Volumes of praise and description could be written about Erie, but I am afraid you would hardly find space to print them. I am sure, though, that every member of either jury will join me in expressing appreciation of the kindness of the Judge, and General Rowley and of the hospitality of the citizens here. Nor can I wind up without reference to the two great drawbacks here; first, the intense heat, which has been only moderated by the lake breezes, and which has continued without rain for a fortnight: and, second, the dust, which is fearfully and wonderfully deep, the streets having been repeatedly dug up for the building of sewers and laying of water pipes, and still remaining unpaved. I see the GAZETTE every day at the Dispatch office, where the gentlemen know how to treat strangers well about as thoroughly as most men do, and I hope soon to read it again unclipped in Pittsburgh. PRESQUE ISLE.

THE HEALTH of school children has attracted the attention of the Massachusetts Board of Education, and their last report contains important statistics as to the exhausting effects of over exertion of the brain. In one school of 85 pupils, only 54 had refreshing sleep, 59 had headaches or constant weariness, and only 15 were perfectly well. The cause of this is thus accounted for: The most celebrated medicalmen, according to facts and opinions, given in the report, show that the hours devoted to brain-work should not exceed six hours for healthy men, and three hours for children. But in the above school it was found that, in addition to the six hours of school, 31 studied 3½ hours, 35 four hours, and 12 from four to seven hours. The report states that in places where schools are highest in reputation, the above example is the common experience.

AN attendant at the South Boston Hospital for the Insane reports a recent conversation between two patients. They had entered into an argument relative to the difference between riding a horse and a hobby, and contending that there was none. The other replied that there certainly was; and upon being called upon to define it, said: "Those who ride a horse can stop and get off whenever they feel like it; but those who ride a hobby find it impossible to do so."

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly puffed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters, which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage. They combine the properties of the best tonic and a stimulant—a laxative, an efficient and anti-bilious agent and the best stomachic known to the world, and when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills, are the safest and surest preventive against all bilious derangements, thoroughly regulating the whole system and giving tone to the digestive organs.

They are highly recommended as an invigorating tonic to mothers while nursing, increasing the flow of milk, and for convalescents, to restore the prostration which always follows long-continued sickness, they are unsurpassed. No household should consider themselves safe from the ordinary maladies without these invaluable medicines. They can be obtained of any druggist. TTSF

MEDICAL.

A GREAT CURE OF ASTHMA.

I feel myself under obligations to you, as well as a duty I owe to others who have been like sufferers with myself, in order that they may know where they can get cured. I had been subject to violent, continued attacks of ASTHMA for more than six years, and had been to great expense and to various medical men of experience without obtaining any permanent relief, or relieved at all. I was so bad that I never knew what it was to be free from the disease. I had to sit up in bed every night for weeks and weeks, without any prospect or hope of cure. My condition was such that I felt life a burthen, and when I got an attack I felt in danger of suffocating every moment. So terrible had been my suffering that my mother says that she has seen me so near suffocation that I was nearly black in the face from the desperate efforts made to get breath. In the cold winter nights, many a night, with the doors and windows of the house thrown wide open, in order to hinder the apparent danger of strangulation. In this condition, on the 13th of October, 1866, having heard of DR. KEYSER'S skill in curing this disease, I called on him, in company with my husband, Joseph Meyers, but I must confess with a great deal of doubt as to effecting a permanent cure. DR. KEYSER examined me carefully, and my lungs all over, with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that with care I would get well. I persevered with his medicines for over a year, and am to-day in vigorous health, and totally FREE FROM THE ASTHMA, and its terribly disagreeable attendants. I have had, once in a while, a slight attack of the disease, but I regard my health as entirely re-established, and if I do have any attack, a few doses of the Doctor's medicine immediately relieves it. I cannot feel too thankful for the exemption from a disease which used to cost me whole weeks and months of loss of sleep, besides suffering which none but those who are subject to this disease can fully appreciate or describe.

NANCY MEYERS,
MARY MOUNT JOY, (her mother,)
GEORGIANA FISHER.

Birmingham, Dec. 9, 1867.

The case of Mrs. Meyers, recited above, is one of more than ordinary importance, because of the violence of the attacks, their continued length, and the great prostration of all the vital powers attending the disease. Any one who knew her during the time she was a sufferer from the disease of which she was cured, and will look at her now, the very picture of robust health, cannot but admit that the cure is one of more than ordinary character, inasmuch as we hear of Asthma every day of our lives, being a disease of an incurable nature. Let those who doubt investigate for themselves.

SIGHT RESTORED.

The case to which we alluded some weeks ago, of Christiana Fisher, of Beaver county, is now entirely confirmed by the appearance of Miss Fisher herself, who to-day called on DR. KEYSER in person, to thank him for his kindness and skill in restoring her to ENTIRE AND PERFECT SIGHT. Miss Fisher has been nearly blind for four months. She was so blind that she could not distinguish any object so as to make out what it was. The case is remarkable, as hundreds of cases like her's are doomed to never-ending darkness, on the flimsy pretext that there is no cure, and nothing can be done. She was under DR. KEYSER'S treatment for two months, and before she applied to him, through her brother, Simon P. Fisher, slight hopes were entertained of her ever getting her sight. Her case is well known in the neighborhood where she resides, and has been regarded as one of extraordinary recovery. We, the undersigned, know of the cure of Miss Fisher, and bear willing testimony to the fact above stated.

The case above referred to was entirely cured by medicines to purify the blood, and it is witnessed by scores of persons who have known Miss Fisher, and have a knowledge of her total restoration to health and the recovery of her sight, as the accompanying letter of her brother sets forth:

DR. KEYSER—This is the list of names that I have to your advertisement of the cure of my sister, Christian Fisher. They were willing to put their names down, and were very much astonished to see that you brought her sight so soon. My mother sends her thanks to you; she says "you are one of the greatest men in the world." She says if we had not come across you she believes her child would not be living at this time. We all join in sending our love and respects to you.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of GEORGE FORD, carpenter, of No. 16 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack of pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there I called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well, in this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper zone of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by DR. KEYSER was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment.

GEORGE FORD.

PITTSBURGH, March 30, 1868.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

Statement of John G. Wigham, of Turtle Creek, Allegheny county:

I was discharged from the United States army in January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough, and fell away in strength and flesh, and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood, and afterwards to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DR. KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of, and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under DR. KEYSER'S medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunken away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a Sunday's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of DR. KEYSER'S treatment and medicines.

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adpited to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended, it is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or such iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church, Fifth street, next door to GAZETTE office.

Painted.—The Hand street bridge is being painted.

Returned.—John G. Brown, Esq., Clerk of the Courts, returned home yesterday from a visit to the East.

New Water Pipe.—A new six-inch water pipe is taking the place of the old one on Wood street, between Fifth and Sixth.

Completed.—The work of raising Colonel Clark's church, in Allegheny, was completed yesterday morning. It required one hundred and eighty screws to do the job.

Drowned.—Jacob Bigler, while bathing in the Monongahela river near Monongahela city, was drowned on Saturday last. A short time afterwards the body was recovered.

Return To-Day.—John Stevenson, Esq., jeweller, and his amiable daughter, who have made quite an extensive tour through Europe, are expected to arrive on the Cincinnati express this morning from New York.

Called her Names.—Annie Tilska made information yesterday before Alderman Taylor against —— Zimmerman for surety of the peace. She alleges that the defendant called her names and she is afraid he will do her some bodily harm. The parties reside on Liberty street, Fifth ward. A warrant was issued.

Body Recovered.—The body of Louis Kahlkof, the boy who was drowned in the Monongahela river at Dam No. 1, Tuesday evening, while bathing, was recovered about eight o'clock yesterday morning, and Coroner Clawson held an inquest in the afternoon. The jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning.

A Fierce Threat.—Winnifred Mevers made information before Alderman Thomas yesterday against Margaret Neely, for surety of the peace. Winnifred alleges that Margaret threatened to put her through the Hari Kari process, and as she has no relish for the operation, she asks for the protection of the law. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the fierce lady.

Coroner's Inquest.—Coroner Clawson held an inquest yesterday, on the body of Andreas Worbleski, a Prussian, who died suddenly at his boarding house, 79 Spring Alley, Monday night. The deceased, it appears, had been drinking excessively for several days. The jury found that he came to his death from apoplexy, superinduced by heat. The deceased was about 35 years of age.

Runaway and Smash Up.—Capt. Rodgers narrowly escaped death on Tuesday evening. He was riding along in a buggy with his wife, on the New Brighton road, when suddenly, near the second toll gate, the horse took fright and ran away. The occupants were both thrown out of the buggy, which was made a complete wreck. Mr. Rodgers was pretty badly bruised, but his wife escaped without injury.

Going It Blind.—A blind horse attached to a cart ran away on Smithfield street yesterday morning. He first ran into and smashed a show window in Ruckreigle's saloon, and getting free from this obstruction dashed away on a full gallop, until checked by coming in contact with a brick wall on Sixth street. The driver was away from the cart at the time. and beyond the breaking of the window no damage was done.

Sudden Deaths.—Yesterday morning a man whose name could not be ascertained was found dead in his bed at Laughlin's station, four miles above the city on the Connellsville railroad. He was employed at Eliza furnace, located at the same place.

A man, name unknown, fell dead on the farm of Mr. John Haudenschield, on the Washington Pike, about four miles from the city. The Coroner has been notified and will hold inquests in both cases to-day.

A Dogged Difficulty.—J. W. Nichols, a tavern keeper in the Third ward, alleges that Tim Fenan and John Swaney broke the eighth commandment by taking away from his premises a dog and brass collar, valued at one hundred dollars. He also makes information against Swaney for assault and battery, alleging that when he went to get the dog, Swaney beat him and used threatening language. Both cases will be heard by Alderman McMasters today at 2 P. M.

First Annual Pic-Nic.—The first annual pic-nic of "Social Club No. 1" of the Pittsburgh Police will be held at Glenwood Grove Wednesday, the 29th inst. The Club is composed of young men, members of the police force, and the managers are gentlemen of energy. Nothing will be neglected on their part which would in any way add to the pleasure of the occasion. A delightful time is anticipated, as the affair will be properly conducted and good order maintained. Tickets one dollar.

Sun Struck.—James McCarthy, residing in Collins township, near the cemetery, died on Tuesday evening of coup de soliel. He had been at work on the farm during the day and was returning home in the evening about half past six o'clock, and when near the house fell. Some one in the house heard him groaning and ran to his assistance. He was removed to the house, where he died in a few moments afterward. Coroner Clawson was notified and held an inquest on the body yesterday when the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

Ordinance to be Enforced.—The Police Committee have instructed his honor Mayor Drum to hereafter rigidly enforce the ordinance relative to parties allowing their wagons, carts, &c., to remain on the streets. In accordance with his instructions the Mayor has appointed officer Swain as a special policeman to see that the provisions of the ordinance are faithfully complied with throughout the city, and hereafter all persons who violate the ordinance will be dealt with according to law. The fine is three dollars and costs.

County Executive Committee.

A meeting of the Republican County Executive Committee was held at three o'clock P. M. in the Select Council chamber, city building.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, and the roll of members was called by Mr. Stewart, Secretary.

The Committee on Music submitted a report recommending that Prof. Pope be employed for the campaign.

The remainder of the session was spent in preparing a list of local committees for the several wards, townships and boroughs, which will be published as soon as completed.

In the bankruptcy branch yesterday final discharges and certificates were awarded to W. B. Hagerty and W. P. Fulmer, of Allegheny county; James Y. Clustown, of Monongahela City, Washington county; William W. White, of Oil City, Venango county; William W. Kingsland, of Titusville, Crawford county.

Petitions for final discharge were filed by John Wood, Oil City, Venango county; Jno. Gundrum, Samuel A. Newcomer and Wm. Newcomer, of Clinton county; William and John A. Dose, of Tioga county.

In the admiralty branch of the Court Messrs Reed & McClay filed a petition asking to be allowed permission to intervene in the libel against the steamboat Traveler. The petition was granted.

Man's Inhumanity, &c.

Sunday afternoon an insane man, a foreigner, and stranger in the city, was found running at large in Allegheny, and was very properly taken in custody by one of the Mayor's police and confined in the lock-up. He was allowed to remain there until Monday morning when his Honor Mayor Drum applied to the proper authorities of both county and city to have him removed to either the City or County Home. Mr. McGonnigle, Secretary of the Board of Poor Directors for the city, we are informed, was first applied to by the Mayor, but on learning that the man was a stranger in the city, or that he came from the country, refused to grant him admission to the City Home, on the grounds that the case belonged properly to the county and that application should be made to Mr. Davis. Mr. Davis was next called upon and we learn called once or twice to see the unfortunate man, but as yet nothing has been done in the case, and the poor unfortunate creature still remains in the lock-up. The Mayor has given him all the attention in his power, furnishing him his meals from a restaurant regularly, and procuring medical attendance. The man is not only insane, but is severely ill, and if not removed to more comfortable quarters, where he will receive proper attention, will in all probability die.

There is something wrong and somebody at fault in this matter; who it is we do not pretend to say, but the matter should be investigated, and the party responsible should be held answerable.

Some months since we published a statement of a man who was injured in South Pittsburgh, which reflected on some of our officials, but the next day, finding that we had done the parties injustice, we readily made a correction, which proved satisfactory to all interested. Mr. McGonnigle, whose name was not mentioned in the article referred to, nor was in any way connected with the affair, took occasion to abuse reporters and newspapers in general, and at that time said an arrangement existed between Mr. Fortune, of the Pittsburgh City Home, Mr. Davis, of the County Home, and himself, by which all such cases as the one in question were provided for. He stated that when application was made to either one the proper action was taken by him and sanctioned by the others. If such an arrangement existed then and is still in existence, could not Mr. McGonnigle have provided for the poor unfortunate creature whom he knew to be lying in a prison cell under his office, and would not Mr. Davis have sanctioned his action? or, was it necessary to allow him to remain there for three or four days until it could be ascertained who he was, what he was, and where he came from? From constant association with misery and suffering men sometimes become hardened, and the frequent impositions to which they are subjected, makes them suspicious, the consequence of which is, that in their efforts to protect themselves against imposters, the innocent and deserving are frequently made to suffer. It will not do for a director of the poor to act upon the principle "that every man is an imposter until the contrary is established." The county and citizens are much more able to stand an imposition of this kind, which could be but for a day or two at most, than an insane, sick man is to bear the hardships of prison life for a week, in order that the servants of the public may have time to ascertain and arrange between themselves, to which the case properly belongs.

"Man's inhumanity to man,
Makes countless thousands mourn."

If we have made any misstatement or perversion of facts in the foregoing, it is from no desire to misrepresent the case, or reflect upon the parties who are responsible for the neglect of the man, but because we have been missinformed, and we will readily make any correction the facts of the case will warrant.

The Excursionists.

Yesterday at half-past one o'clock a train arrived in this city from New York, having on board an excursion party, composed of representatives of the principal newspapers in the United States, on a trip to the present terminus of the Pacific Railroad. The party took dinner at the Union Depot Hotel, where they were joined by the representatives of the Pittsburgh press, after which they departed on their Western tour. The party was composed of the following gentlemen:

New York—Sun, Chas. A. Dana; Tribune, S. S. Page; Times, Mr. Shannon; Express, Mr. Howe; World, Mr. Faulkner.

Boston—Journal, Edwin Wright; Post, Mr. W. N. Hutchins, Traveller, Mr. Ball; Transcript, Mr. T. B. Fox; Advertiser, Mr. Jas. Redpath; Congregationalist, Mr. Pierce; Watchman and Reflector, Mr. Bliss.

Philadelphia—Press, Capt. Nevin, J. W. Forney, Jr.; Age, Mr. Hamlin; Bulletin, Mr. Wells; North American, Mr. Asch; Inquirer, Mr. Hubbs; Telegraph, Mr. Clark.

Baltimore—American, Mr. E. Fulton.

New Haven—Palladium, Mr. Butler.

Cleveland—Leader, Mr. N. S. Stevens.

The representatives from this city are: Commercial, Dr. Fleming; Chronicle, Jas. C. Purdy; Post, Michael McGann; GAZETTE, T. P. Houston.

The train left the Union Depot at two o'clock, in charge of D. M. Richardson, the excursionists occupying one of the fine Silver Palace sleeping cars.

Coup de Soliel.

Cases of conp de soliel have been more numerous within the past week than ever before in this locality. The Greensburg Herald contains the following acconnts of three cases which occurred in that neighborhood last week:

Friday last Thomas Williams, shoemaker, of Latrobe, formerly of this place, was sunstruck.

On Wednesday last, George Ferry, residing near Latrobe, whilst working in the field, was sunstruck. At last accounts he was still living, but little hopes were entertained of his recovery.

On last Wednesday forenoon, Ralph Hunter, of Derry township, while mowing, became very heated and thirsty—drank a large draught of cold water and proceeded to work, but did not proceed far until he dropped down and instantly expired from the effects of sunstroke.

Denies the Accusation.

We published an item in the GAZETTE of yesterday relative to a difficulty between Rev. Nelson H. Williams and Moses Parker, colored men, stating that Parker alleged the Rev. gentleman was to intimate with his wife. It is due to Mr. Williams to state that the matter was investigated by the trustees of the church of which he is pastor, and that he proved the charge to be without foundation. It appears that Parker is an intemperate man, and it is only when under the influence of liquor that he makes such charges, and always retracts them when sober. The difficulty has been satisfactorily arranged, and Parker, who was committed for court, has been discharged.

Another Sudden Death.

Yesterday evening about seven o'clock, Mr. Lawrence Towers, came to his death very suddenly at his residence on Morton street, Twelfth ward. It seems he came home in the evening and feeling thirsty drank a quantity of water, after which he laid down on a lounge to rest. He had lain there but a very short time when he began to feel sick. He grew worse rapidly and a physician was sent for but before he reached the house the unfortunate man had expired, just about an hour after getting home. The physician thinks his death was the effect of the intense heat.

Stolen Goods Recovered.

Monday, 6th inst., the house of Mrs. Arbuckle, situated above Wheeling, near the Ohio river, in West Virginia, was burglariously entered and a quantity of silver ware, valued at about three hundred dollars, carried away. It appears that there was no one about the house at the time the burglary was committed, consequently there was no clue to the perpetrators and nothing could be ascertained relative to the affair, except that two men were seen coming down the river, Monday evening, in a skiff, who pulled to the shore in front of the house and got out of the boat, and some time afterward were seen entering the boat and proceeding on down the river. The owner of the property had given up all hopes, we presume, of ever recovering her property, and is perhaps yet ignorant of the fact that at least a large portion of it has been recovered. Yesterday afternoon Mayor Blackmore received a despatch from Mayor Brice of Hancock, Ohio, which read as follows: "Have you any knowledge of a quantity of silver ware being taken from your city marked 'Arbuckle's.' Answer immediately."

The Mayor took the dispatch to Mr. Arbuckle, on Liberty street, who is a son of the lady referred to above, and was informed that a robbery had been committed, and silverware to the value of $300 carried away. He then telegraphed to Mayor Brice requesting him to hold the goods and thief, if caught, until further notice, and at two o'clock last night officer Gumbert, accompanied by Mr. Arbuckle, left the city for Newark.

We do not know what portion of the goods have been recovered or whether the thief or thieves have been captured, as the dispatch stated nothing further than what we publish. The probabilities are that the thief has been captured, however.

The Allegheny Light Guard.

We published in our issue of yesterday, a report of a meeting held at Wilkin's Hall, on the evening previous, which purported to be a meeting of the "Allegheny Light Guard." It appears however, that such was not the case. The meeting was called we are informed by a few dissatisfied members of the old company without any authority for so doing, consequently their action, disbanding the "Allegheny Light Guard," amounted to nothing. It will be seen by the following communication that the company is still in existence and is likely to remain so; the action of the seceeders to the contrary notwithstanding, and if they are not satisfied with it the only remedy left them is to resign their membership and join some other company if they desire to. The "Light Guard" being still an organization of course can claim all company property:

ALLEGHENY, July 15, 1868.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Having seen a notice in the columns of your paper stating that the Allegheny Light Guard military company had been disbanded through the proceedings of a meeting held at Wilkins Hall on Monday evening, and knowing that said meeting was composed only of a quorum of members, including the former Second Lieutenant, and presided over by the Color Sergeant of the above named company, I do hereby, in justice to myself and all members in good standing, declare the original company still in existence.

A meeting proper will be called as early as practicable, when an opportunity will be given to young men of good character to swell the ranks of the "Allegheny Light Guard."

"Rally Round the Flag Boys."
J. C. MARTIN, Captain.

Loafers.

The extremely hot weather of the past few days has had a tendency to increase the number of street loafers, and the accustomed haunts of this worthless class of the community, which a few weeks since were occupied by perhaps a solitary loafer, each are now frequented by a dozen or more lazy, lounging fellows, who have doubtless been compelled to vacate their lounging places in beer saloons and taverns in order to make room for more profitable customers. The steps of the Old Theatre, the jail yard, and the stone wall at the north end of the St. Clair street bridge, are the favorite resorts of this class of persons, and they are most liberally patronized. There is not the slightest excuse for healthy men spending their time in such places. There is plenty of work to do, at which industrious men can make good wages; but it is not that class of men who are found lounging on street corners and in beer saloons. It is only the professional loafer, who is too lazy to work and too poor to live respectably without it, and is content to eke out a miserable existence of a few years, dependent upon some one else for the bread he eats and the clothing he wears. Such men should be banished from the community. They are fit subjects for a work house, or chain gang.

Family Crackers.

We desire this morning to call attention to the very superior facilities enjoyed by Mr. S. S. Marvin, No. 91 Liberty street, for the manufacture of all description of crackers. Following out the most approved ideas of bakery. Mr. Marvin is enabled to present to the trade the very choicest articles of bakery at the most reasonable prices. His wine, English, Scotch and breakfast crackers are above anything of the kind manufactured in America, while all the other brands of crackers turned out by this house are equally worthy of attention. Using the very best of flour and material, employing the best of material aid, Mr. Marvin is prepared to furnish the trade with such articles as will prove highly satisfactory to patrons. A purchasing visit is all that is desired from wholesale or retail purchasers, and we trust that this favorably known house will receive a full share of the public patronage.

Corner Stone.

The corner stone of Immanuel Episcopal Church, in the Fifth ward, Allegheny, (late Manchester,) will be laid at four o'clock this afternoon. Bishop Kerfoot and a number of clergy and laity will be present. The clergy in surplices with wardens and vestry will proceed in procession from the residence of James A. Hut hinson, Esq., to the site selected for the Church. The ceremony will be according to the formulary prescribed by the church ritual, which is impressive and interesting. Immanuel Church is a flourishing mission, started under the auspices of the several Episcopal Churches in the city, and is under the ministerial care of Rev. M. Fuller, a most faithful and zealous worker in the Lord's vineyard. May his labors be blessed more and more until the new chapel be erected and filled with devout worshippers.

False Pretence.

A claim agent doing business on Diamond street, yesterday made information against William Sarver, of Allegheny, charging him with obtaining fifty dollars from him by false pretences. The prosecutor alleges that Sarver came to his office, representing that he was an honorably discharged soldier, and entitled to a bounty of one hundred dollars, which he wished to secure. He put the case into the agents hands, asking at the same time an advance of fifty dollars, which he obtained. It has been since ascertained that he was a soldier in the 4th Pennsylvania cavalry, but deserted, and is therefore not entitled to the bounty, hence the information. A warrant was issued by Alderman McMasters for the arrest of Sarver.

MORTGAGES FILED.

Same day nine mortgages were filed of record.

Church Renovation.

During the past three weeks workmen have been busily engaged in renovating the First Baptist Church, Allegheny, Rev. Dr. Bell pastor, located on the corner of Sandusky street and Strawberry alley, and as a result of their labors the Church now presents quite a clean, cheerful and comfortable appearance. In the inside the auditorium has been re-frescoed, the old pulpit replaced by a new one several feet larger, the grained work of the seats freshened with a new coat of varnish, and the aisles and pulpit platform covered with very fine Brussels carpeting. In the lecture room the seats have all been re-grained, the walls and ceilings re-painted, and the aisles as well as the vestibule and stairs leading to the main audience chamber, made to look very neat with a new covering of the best English matting. Externally the painter with his brush and a liberal supply of coloring material has succeeded in considerably changing the looks of affairs and adding very materially to the appearance of the structure.

The renovation has certainly improved the church very much, and the congregation deserve great credit for their efforts to make it compare favorably with the houses of worship among other denominations in the city.

Base Ball—The Game To-Day.

The Detroit Base Ball Club arrived in the city last evening, and are being entertained at the Monongahela House, as the guests of the Allegheny Club, who are doing all in their power to make the visit a pleasant one. They seem to be in excellent condition, and will no doubt give a good account of themselves in the contest to-day. It will be remembered that the game, which commences at three o'clock this afternoon at Union Park, is a return match between the two Clubs. In the first game, played at Detroit on the Fourth, the Allegheny boys were badly beaten, the score standing 22 to 4. They expect to-day, however, to retrieve their lost laurels, as they are all in good practice, and the strongest nine they have ever had will take the field. They will need to play pretty hard to realize their expectations, as in the Detroit boys they will have "foemen worthy of their steel." The parties being so evenly matched and each feeling confident of success, if they make anything like the play, that is anticipated, it cannot fail to be one of the closest and most animated games ever played in this vicinity.

Our Quiet Sister.

Allegheny was very quiet yesterday in the police line, and the officers of the law seemed to have nothing to do but lay back on their oars. The monotony of the morning was somewhat relieved by the commitment of a couple of females, Beckie Hosick and Ellen Keenan, for vagrancy and the arrest of one or two other persons of that class, who forget the injunction "look not upon the wine," &c., but beyond this nothing was done. The Aldermen who generally have a pretty good run in settling squabbles and disputes amongst neighbors, looked in vain for a case, and as far as this line of business was concerned they might have closed their doors and lost nothing. The policemen walked their accustomed beats backward and forward, but no trace of disorder could be discovered, and "All's well" seemed to be borne on every passing breeze. Even in the usually noisy paradise of those who love the foaming nut brown beverage all was quiet. To our police reporter it seemed as if

There was quiet in the sky,
And quiet in the air,
And quiet all around
And quiet everywhere.

Struck by Lightning.

We clip the following from the Greensburg Herald: On Wednesday afternoon of last week, during the prevalence of a thunder storm, the house of Mr. John L. Holmes, of this place, was struck by lightning. Three holes were torn in the roof and several rafters splintered to pieces. The fluid passed down the chimney till it came to a stove pipe hole, in the second story, and from thence it took across the room into a large looking glass, breaking it into atoms and scattering it all over the room—pieces of which were found imbedded in the plastering on the walls; here it stopped. Mrs. Holmes being unwell was lying on a lounge in the room at the time the lightning was performing its freaks through it, but escaped uninjured, which seemed almost a miracle from the havoc it created in the room. She was the only one in the house at the time.

Sabbath School Pic-Nic.

The Sabbath School of the First Reformed Presbyterian Church, of this city, held their annual pic-nic yesterday at McFarland's Grove, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. About six hundred persons partook of a bountiful and sumptuous dinner. The whole affair was under the direction of Mr. F. R. McCutcheon, Superintendent, who was ably assisted by ex-Superintendent Mr. R. C. Miller, and a very efficient corps of ladies and gentlemen. The occasion was a very pleasant one and all, especially the little ones, were greatly delighted, and the manner in which the affair was conducted reflected the highest credit on all concerned.

Burnett's Standard Preparations.—We learn from the first confectioner in this city, that Burnett's Extracts of Fruits and Flowers for flavoring Cakes, Pies, &c., are worthy of the high reputation which they enjoy, being equal to the English articles of the same kind of the highest celebrity. The Toilet Preparations of the same house stand, we are assured, equally high.—Montreal Witness. TTSW

Still Another.

Coroner Clawson held an inquest on the body of Wm. Evans, who fell dead on Neville Island yesterday afternoon at three o'clock. He had been employed by Mr. Augustus P. Cole, gardner, and was working in the field when he suddenly fell dead. Dr. Hewitt of Allegheny, after an examination of the body, pronouced it a case of sun stroke. The jury rendered a verdict accordingly. The deceased was about forty years of age, and had only been in this country a short time, being a native of England, where he leaves a son and daughter. He was a cigar maker by trade, but failing to get employment at that business, he secured a situation as gardener with Mr. Cole, and had entered on his duties but a few weeks when his death occurred as stated.

Intelligence Office.

Colonel J. D. Eagan, Sixth street, near Smithfield, has recently opened an intelligence office, in connection with his book and stationary business, and we have no doubt but that his enterprise in this respect will be fully appreciated by the public, and that he will receive a liberal patronage. Our city has always been sadly deficient in intelligence offices, and Colonel Eagan, in embarking in the business, will supply a want which has long been felt and complained of by the public generally. The Colonel has been engaged in business in this city for a number of years, and his reputation for honesty, integrity and fair-dealing is such as to commend him to all who know him, and we take pleasure in recommending his establishment to all, and bespeak for him a liberal share of patronage.

Narrow Escape.

An accident occurred at Overholt's distillery, Broad Ford, Fayette county, yesterday morning, by which four men employed at the establishment made a narrow escape from death. They were engaged in digging a well, near what is called the flake-stand, which contains a worm of copper pipe about five hundred feet in length and weighing about two thousand pounds. The well had been sunk to a depth of fifteen or twenty feet, and the workmen had just left it when the side next the flakestand caved in letting the whole affair fall over the well. Fortunately no one was injured. The well passes through several feet of quicksand, which accounts for the caving.

SMITHSON, VANHOOK & MCCLELLAN, Auctioneers.

We call the attention of our readers, especially those desirous of investing in coal property, to the advertisement of the sale of the Jacob Linhart farm in Baldwin township. The property contains one hundred and fifty-five acres, is extremely valuable and is one of the best coal farms in the market. It was offered on the 14th inst. and adjourned to the 21st inst. after $60,000 had been bid for it. If it can be bought for anything like that figure we believe the purchaser will have secured a most profitable bargain. TS

Chapped Hands, face and all roughness of the skin, certainly cured by using the Juniper Tar Soap, made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York. It surpasses all other remedies as it will prevent roughness of the skin if used during cold weather. It is easily applied, avoiding all the trouble of the greasy compounds now in use. It can be used by ladies with the most tender skin, without irritation or pain, making it soft and clear. Sold by the druggists generally. wT

Ladies can rest assured that at the first class restaurant and dining rooms of Mr. P. H. McGuire, No. 105 Fifth street, they will receive the most courteous attention and that it is one of the very few places they can visit unaccompanied by gentlemen. Meals are served in elegant style at all hours, and luncheons can be partaken of at any hour of the day.

POLITICAL ITEMS.

GOV. SEYMOUR'S chances are beginning to be understood. He will get all but the Republican party and the floating vote.

SEYMOUR'S physician advises him to visit Europe during the Presidential canvass, but he positively refuses to absent himself unless imperatively called away by ill-health.

A SOUTHERN Republican paper shrewdly placed its hopes of success in "an abiding faith in the stupidity of the Democratic party." It must have had a premonition of the nomination of Seymour and Blair.

THE ablest contributor to the Memphis Avalanche is a negro, who furnishes the editors with a subject of eulogy, and with thoughts for lengthy leaders. Of course, according to Southern ideas, he is an inferior individual, but then he seems good enough to give spice and eclat to such a journal.

THE Boston Transcript propounds the following mathematical question in politics: "If it requires a Chief Justice to renounce most of his political principles in order to obtain four votes in a National Democratic Convention, what amount of apostacy and degradation would be requisite to secure a nomination?"

THE Sandusky Register (Rep.) thinks "it was particularly cruel in the Democratic Convention to force the Presidential nomination on to a gentleman who has a taint of hereditory insanity, and then to couple him with one of the Blairs, whose society through the campaign would develope lunacy in the sanest of men.

PENDLETON men who have conversed with Vallandigham represent him as highly pleased at Pendleton's defeat, and say they have no longer any doubt but that every movement he made at New York, even after being taken into the Ohio delegation by Wash. McLean, had special reference to killing off Pendleton.

WE should like to see a soldier who served under Blair who will support him from choice. If there was an officer in the army who was hated by those under him, it was he. His tender mercies were cruel to those who were so unfortunate as to be placed under his command, and there will be a cloud of witnesses rise up against him.

STRANGE rumors come to us of the doings of the Democratic delegates at New York outside of the Convention, of midnight meetings, at which no reporters were present, when the caution that tied the tongues of the Democratic delegates in public, was laid aside, and the "Lost Cause" was toasted, the rebel Generals lauded, and the war denounced as barbarous and inhuman.

LIEUT. GOV. DUNN, of Louisiana, on being inducted into office, said, speaking of his people: "We simply ask to be allowed an equal chance in the race of life; an equal opportunity of supporting our families, of educating our children, and of becoming worthy citizens of the Government." The Democratic is the only party who oppose the granting of his desire. Upon it be the infamy.

THE greenbacks are "obligations of the Government" which "do not expressly state upon their face," nor does "the law under which they were issued provide that they shall be paid in coin." According to the Democratic platform, therefore, they ought to be paid in greenbacks. Is the National Government, like Micawber—when it gives one note to take up another—to "thank God that debt is paid?"—Tribune.

A ST. LOUIS special dispatch to the Chicago Times (Democratic) says that on Thursday General Sherman declared against Seymour and for Grant. He was immediately surrounded by a mob of Democrats and rebel soldiery in the street, who denounced him as a houseburner, and declared that he was only in favor of Grant because he hoped to get his place in the army.

Wade Hampton, the incendiary, and Forrest, the butcher of defenceless negroes, are safe from any such demonstration. They go Seymour—and Blair.

A GOOD story is told about the "fractional" support which Chase received in the Convention, when he got a "half" vote. It is said that a gentleman in the Fifth Avenue Hotel bet a thousand dollars that the name of the Chief Justice would not be mentioned in the Convention; and that on the next day (yestarday) accordingly, of course, he lost his wager. The "half" vote was a compliment to the fractional currency created by Mr. Chase.

THE ISSUE,

AMERICA, and manly HONESTY. | or | PETTY SOVEREIGNTY and REPUDIATION.

GRANT, the victor of Rebellion, and unpretending citizen, loving Truth and Silence. | or | SEYMOUR, the man who never fought but fondles Rebellion; who loves talk, and eats his own words.

COLFAX, the faithful Speaker and earnest Patriot. | or | BLAIR, the arrogant soldier, pre-proclaiming a coup d'stat as the pitch of his deep politics.

GOV. RANDALL, Secretary McCulloch and Secretary Seward indicate to their friends that they have no interest in Seymour's success. Mr. Welles and Mr. Browning are, however, earnestly for the Democratic ticket and platform.
